Protocol

Dastard Inc uses the latest trade standard protocol for non-experimental individuals. Individuals selected for experimental protocols are chosen by specific characteristics and will be monitored at a higher frequency; results may suggest improvement upon the standard protocol for future procedures. For information regarding the experimental protocols, see Projects 4 - 8.
The standard protocol is as follows:

PPE

Depetrification protocol

- Disinfection zone.
- Depetrification ray (which looks extremely similar to Dr Ds' petrification ray from way back when).

Petrification protocol

- Petrification ray.

Health & safety

Measures of health and safety must be adhered to. Individuals exiting the petrified state may be in shock, in a highly stressed state, and/or hazardous to Dastard Inc staff. It is, therefore, appropriate to implement physical and arcane shielding in preparation for the final stage of depetrification.

- Physical shielding (including barricades, hand-held energy shields, and subject-specific implements) must be erected in preparation for the final-stage of every depetrification program.
- Arcane shielding must be erected in preparation for every known spell-caster and readily available for every potential spell-caster (which, for clarification, includes all individuals being depetrified).

Stone sickness

Stone sickness is not contagious. As currently understood, it is caused as a direct result of having been petrified and later depetrified. Research into preventing stone sickness in depetrified individuals should be ongoing for the benefit of future generations of petrified individuals and the medical staff assigned to their health.

The symptoms of stone sickness have been, and continue to be, studied. Symptoms develop faster in individuals of low immune response; including young people, the elderly, and ~~hermits~~ sheltered individuals. Symptoms include:

- Venous insufficiency (heavy limbs)
- Rock joint (skin rash)
- Arthralgia (stiffening joints)
- Spasticity (stiffening muscles)
- Repetrification

Symptoms can be managed with the use of physiotherapy and medication; for the best results, optimum prescription and dosage should be assessed on an individual basis. General health should also be maintained to decrease the progression of the disease as much as possible.

- Radiation treatment
 - Input protocol

General health

Dastard Inc employees enjoy health benefits as standard. This includes physical health and mental health.

- Physical health - emergency care, general practice, and physiotherapy (and stone sickness for depetrified individuals).
- Mental health - emergency care, general practice, and counselling.

Acclimatisation

Being cast from your time and into the future can be a jarring and confusing process. Depetrified individuals are privy to assistance programs to help those affected to acclimatise into modern society. Individuals requiring acclimatisation should be put in contact with Monkica Fortytwo (Head of Humanoid Resources) for individual assessment. She will delegate individuals to necessary assistance programs, mentors, and councilors in modern life, such as:

- Literary education
- Monetary education
- Technological education
- Transport education
- Historical education
- and more, as required.
